Analysis and Insights

Pizza Sales Analysis - Insights

Prepared by: Shubham Kumar Bhakta

➢ Overview

This analysis is based on pizza sales data to understand how the business is performing across time, products, and customer behaviour. The goal is to identify what is working well and where improvements can be made.

➢ Overall Performance

- The business generated a total revenue of around $818K from over 21K orders.
- On average, each order contributes about $38, with customers ordering around 2 to 3 pizzas per order.
- This shows that most orders are group or multi-item purchases rather than single-item orders.

➢ Daily and Monthly Trends

- Friday records the highest number of orders, making it the busiest day of the week.
- Sunday shows relatively lower demand compared to other days.
- Sales gradually increase from the start of the week and peak towards the weekend.
- July is the best performing month in terms of total orders.
- A noticeable drop in sales is observed during September and October.
- Sales recover again towards the end of the year.

➢ Hourly Sales Pattern

- Two clear peak periods are observed during the day:
    - Lunch hours (12 PM to 1 PM)
    - Dinner hours (6 PM to 7 PM)

- There is a drop in orders during the afternoon (2 PM to 4 PM), indicating lower customer activity.
- Early morning and late-night hours show very low demand.
- The business heavily depends on lunch and dinner time for most of its sales.

➢ Product and Category Performance

- The Classic category contributes the highest number of sales among all categories.
- Chicken category has comparatively lower sales.
- Large size pizzas dominate overall sales, followed by medium size.
- Extra large pizzas have very low contribution, indicating low demand for premium sizing.

➢ Best and Worst Performing Products

- Thai Chicken Pizza generates the highest revenue even though, Classic Deluxe Pizza is the most frequently ordered item.
- Brie Carre Pizza performs the worst across key metrics like revenue and orders.

➢ Key Observations

- The business is volume-driven, with most revenue coming from consistent mid-value orders.

➢ Recommendations

- Introduce offers or combos during low-demand hours (especially 2 PM to 4 PM).
- Focus on improving Sunday sales through targeted promotions.
- Work on upselling larger pizza sizes to increase order value.
- Promote high-performing pizzas to maximize revenue.
- Review or redesign low-performing items like Brie Carre Pizza.